

Best practices for online teaching: Class rooms, Courseware and Tools

Trainer's Training Hands - on Workshop

- It is a fact that soon we will have to accept that LMS is not optional anymore, but integral to our profession.
- Just as we have been updating ourselves in our subject matters of teaching we are constrained to inevitably update ourselves in the technology of teaching as well.
- As teachers we have to learn how to use the LMS to design courses by seamlessly integrating multimedia contents and specifying essential teaching tools from the digital portfolios.
- LMS being a record of learners' performances, we will have to use it for evaluation too.
- KSHEC is forced to jumpstart a trainer's training hands-on workshop in the basics of Moodle based LMS administration and content design.
- The workshop is meant for those teachers, who are ready to acquire the knowledge base and skills for themselves as well as for initiating their colleagues.
- It is to equip yourself and help others to be comfortable with the digital technology enhanced teaching and facilitation of self-directed learning
